

Mrs. Ernest R. Grant, director of the Children's Health Crusade in Washington, has succeeded in enrolling 36,000 children within the last twelve months. The total membership in the United States is 8,000,000.

(c) Hargis & Ewing.

Sir Arthur Pearson, blind philanthropist, died recently as the result of an accident. His affliction, which befell him at the height of his activity, diverted his energies toward helping others and he became a benefactor of the sightless.

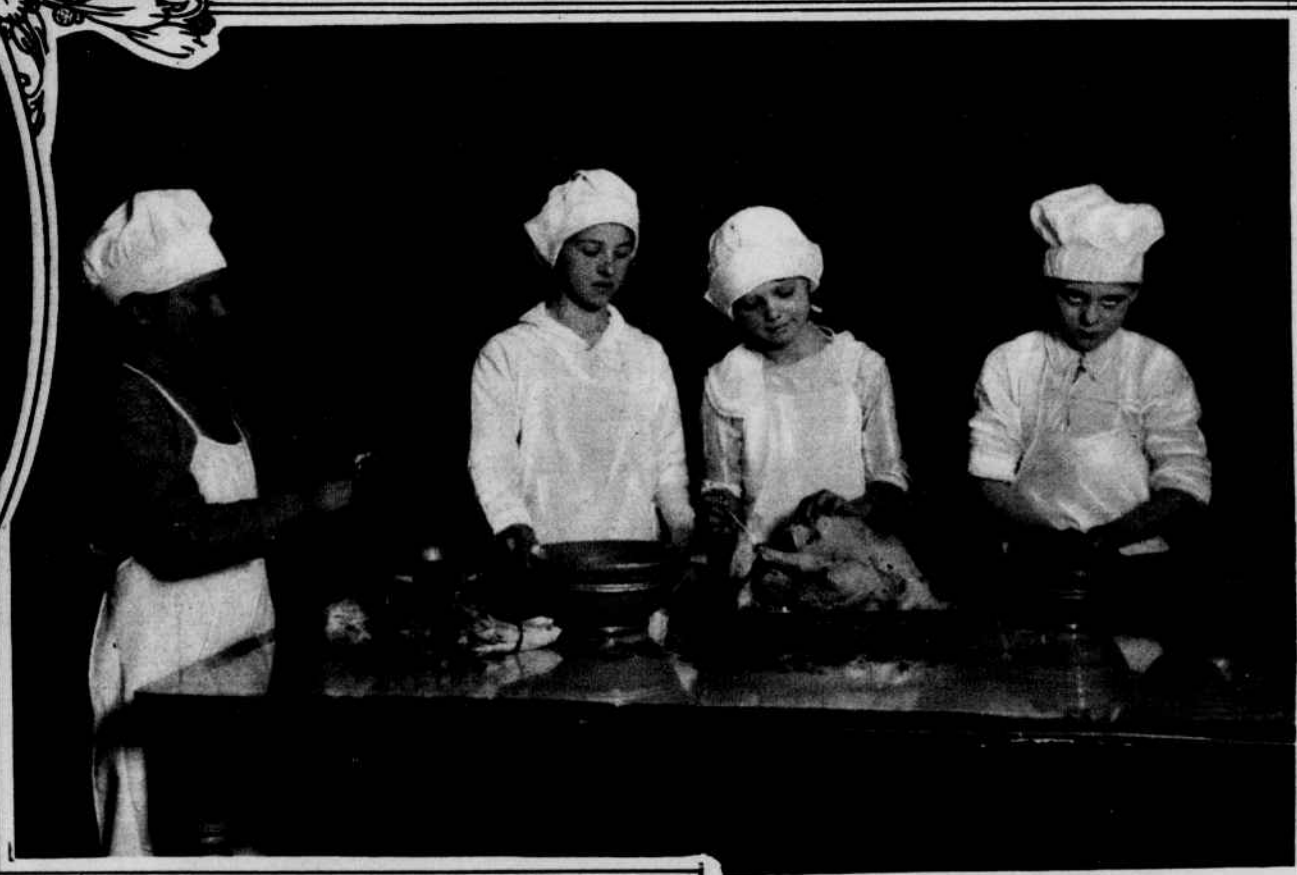

Mrs. Gouverneur Morris of New York, who has joined the ranks of well known women in business and has opened a beauty salon.

(c) Underwood & Underwood.

A great railroad bridge across the Mississippi at Hannibal, Mo., was recently floated down stream to a new location. The photograph shows two of the spans on pontoons being towed by river steamers.

Kadel & Herbert.

Boys and girls of the Columbus Hill section, in the neighborhood of Amsterdam avenue and Sixtieth street, will cook a Christmas dinner for poor children. The New York County Chapter of the Red Cross supplied the materials.

Paul Thompson.

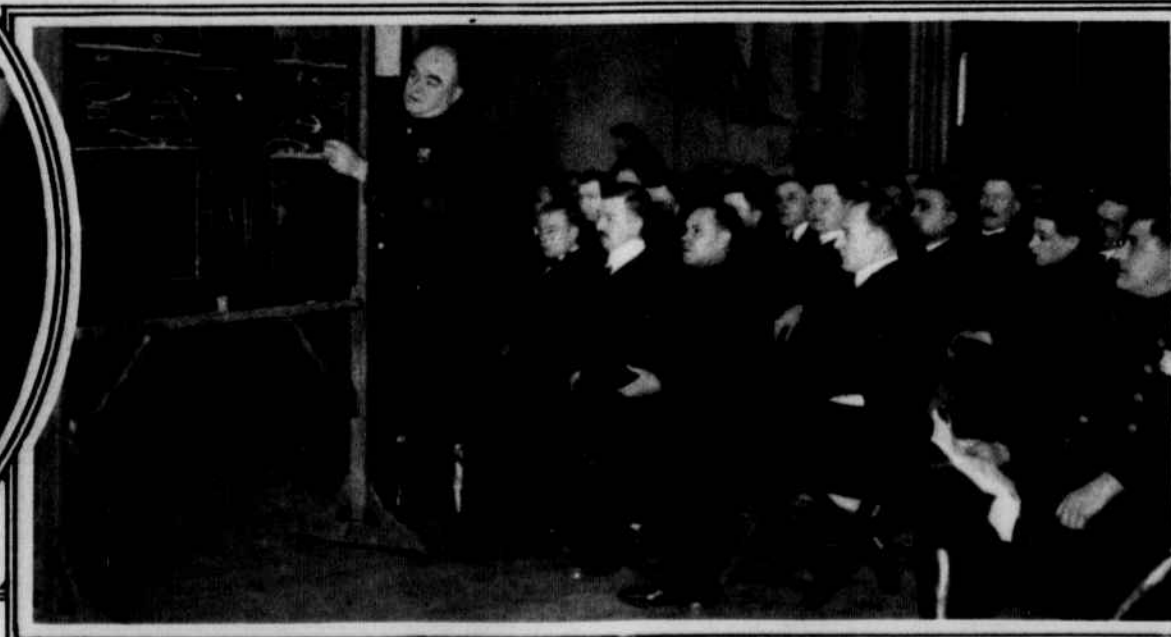

Picking the "murderer's" hat from a number which look alike is one of the feats performed by police dogs at the training school at Ivanhoe, N. Y. The dog has previously been given the scent.

Underwood & Underwood.

Live animals are on sale as Christmas presents in London shops. This youngster has acquired a chameleon and is watching the colors change.

Underwood & Underwood.

Offending motorists brought before Magistrate Fisk in the Brooklyn Traffic Court have to listen to a lecture, with blackboard demonstrations, by Patrolman John M. Finnerty on traffic regulations and the rules of the road.

Underwood & Underwood.

If a fugitive throws away anything in his flight the pursuing police dog will pick it up. Photograph shows the retrieving of a bunch of keys.

Underwood & Underwood.